

Arthur Lagueux, of the Rotary Club of Quebec, Que., Canada, has been nominated for President of Rotary International for 1950-51. He has served as District Governor, Director, and on various Committees (also see item).

It's the pay-off! James H. Bicket, Bloomington, Ill., Rotary Club President, consumes crackers and milk while his fellows feast on steak at his expense. He offered T-bones for a 100 percent meeting. Everyone came!

A little by-play at a Rotary meeting in Pocono Mountains, Pa., as three "judges" try to determine "which twin has the Toni": District Governor Benton Whipple (left), of Laceyville, Pa., or Rotary's Secretary, Philip Lovejoy.

Scratchpaddings

WHAT ROTARIANS ARE DOING

NOMINEE. ARTHUR LAGUEUX, president of an investment corporation in Quebec, Que., Canada, is the choice of the Nominating Committee for President of Rotary International for 1950-51. The Committee arrived at its decision at its late-January meeting in Chicago. ROTARIAN LAGUEUX is Past President of his Rotary Club, and has served Rotary International as District Governor, a Director, and a Committee member and Chairman.

He is president of the La Sarre Power Company, Ltd., and the Financial Building, Ltd. He is a director of the Leverage Fund of Canada and of the Commonwealth International Corporation of Montreal. He is chairman of the Reestablishment Credit Advisory Committee of the Canadian Department of Veterans Affairs. He is also an Officer of the Order of the British Empire.

Full Life. A. BERT COOK, of Owosso, Mich., is a Rotarian who for a lifetime has lived close to the soil. He recalls, among other high lights in his years as a farmer, that THOMAS E. DEWEY, now Governor of the State of New York, and twice Presidential candidate, once picked up potatoes for him. Though he lives 4½ miles out of town, and is 76 years of age, ROTARIAN COOK has 18 years of 100 percent attendance to his credit, and though in a vocation which might easily tend to make one provincial in outlook, he has in recent years been diligent in promoting interest among his fellow Owosso Rotarians in the subject of a universal auxiliary language.

Musical, Too! The Flywheel, weekly publication of the Ironton, Mo., Rotary Club, notes that on his recent visit, DISTRICT GOVERNOR Q. R. JOHNSON, of Louisiana, Mo., demonstrated new and welcome talent. In the absence of a regular song leader, "Q. R." filled the job with exceptional ability.

Preview. When A. NORMAN COOKE, of Dewsbury, England, a member of the Rotary Foundation Committee of Rotary International, addressed Beatrice, Nebr., Rotarians on the subject of world affairs recently, in his audience were members of other local service clubs. But in planning his stay in Beatrice, his hosts felt that a "one-night stand" was not sufficient, so he was invited to meet informally with Club officers and Directors on the evening preceding his Club address to discuss conditions in England and the British Empire.

Extra Dividend. JAMES C. SHUFORD, editor of the Hickory, N. C., Rotary Club publication, reports that Rotarians of District 280 are receiving an unusual amount of publicity in Latin-American newspapers. The reason? LAIZ FRANCA make it bus-fund conscious. Then sell popcorn at football games and solicit advertising for the programs. For your ace in the hole, plan a carnival that will increase your fund to $4,500. What do you do then? Why, buy a bus!

13 New Clubs in Greetings to a "baker's dozen" of new

On his 12,000-mile tour of seven European countries, Percy Hodgson, Rotary's international President, visits a home for the children of employed mothers in Salonika, Greece. That's Percy holding the youngster and his wife is on his right.

Photo: Entree

Gentlemen, be seated! Rotarians of Chester, S. C., comprise this minstrel group widely known in the Carolinas. All but two are Past Presidents of the Chester Club. End man on the left is not "Mr. Bones," but Herman P. Hamilton, Governor of District 282.

the fact that no accident involving school children had ever occurred while the PITTSBURG junior traffic patrol was on duty. As a result, the patrol had its forces doubled to permit two periods of duty. And to recognize the past good work of the traffic patrol, the local Rotary Club furnished the junior patrolmen with distinctive uniforms easily spotted by all motorists. Thus, the uniforms, consisting of yellow hats, white Sam Brown belts, and red shirts, are in a sense a "Monument to Sandy."

Lorain Honoring Its Presidents

As part of its program for 1949-50, the LORAIN, OHIO, Rotary Club is honoring each of its Past Presidents at different meetings. Recently the second President of the LORAIN Club, George L. Glitsch, was saluted by his fellow members, and was presented with a certificate of honor.

News from the Field of Youth

In EPHRATA, PA., the Rotary Club presented a flag of the State of Pennsylvania to the local high school.

The presentation ceremony took place at a school assembly and the flag was accepted by the supervising principal. . . . A "Mule and Plug-Horse Race" was held by the VERSAILLES, KY., Rotary Club to raise funds for the local high-school band and to establish a scholarship fund for the school. A popular event with the townspeople, the Club has decided to make the race an annual affair.

The Rotary Club of TULELAKE, CALIF., recently held its first Rotary Junior Livestock Show, which attracted many entries from members of near-by 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America Chapters. Judging was held for cattle, swine, poultry, and crops, and cash awards were given the winners. The show's home-economics division included competition in sewing, food preservation, and nutrition. Held at the local high school, it is scheduled to be an annual affair.

After learning about the fine work being done for youth at the famous Boys' Ranch near AMARILLO, TEX., the Rotary Club of DODGE CITY, KANS., is paying the expenses of one boy at the Ranch.